

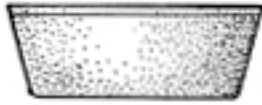

Figure 25. Drawing of representative rim profiles from the Pawley assemblage

Pan - Open vessel with straight or outflaring sides. The rim is usually as wide or wider than the base, usually does not have handles.

Pitcher - Bulbous bodied vessel with a cylindrical neck that includes a spout. The base and neck of the vessel are narrower than the body. A strap handle is attached below the rim and at the widest point of the body.

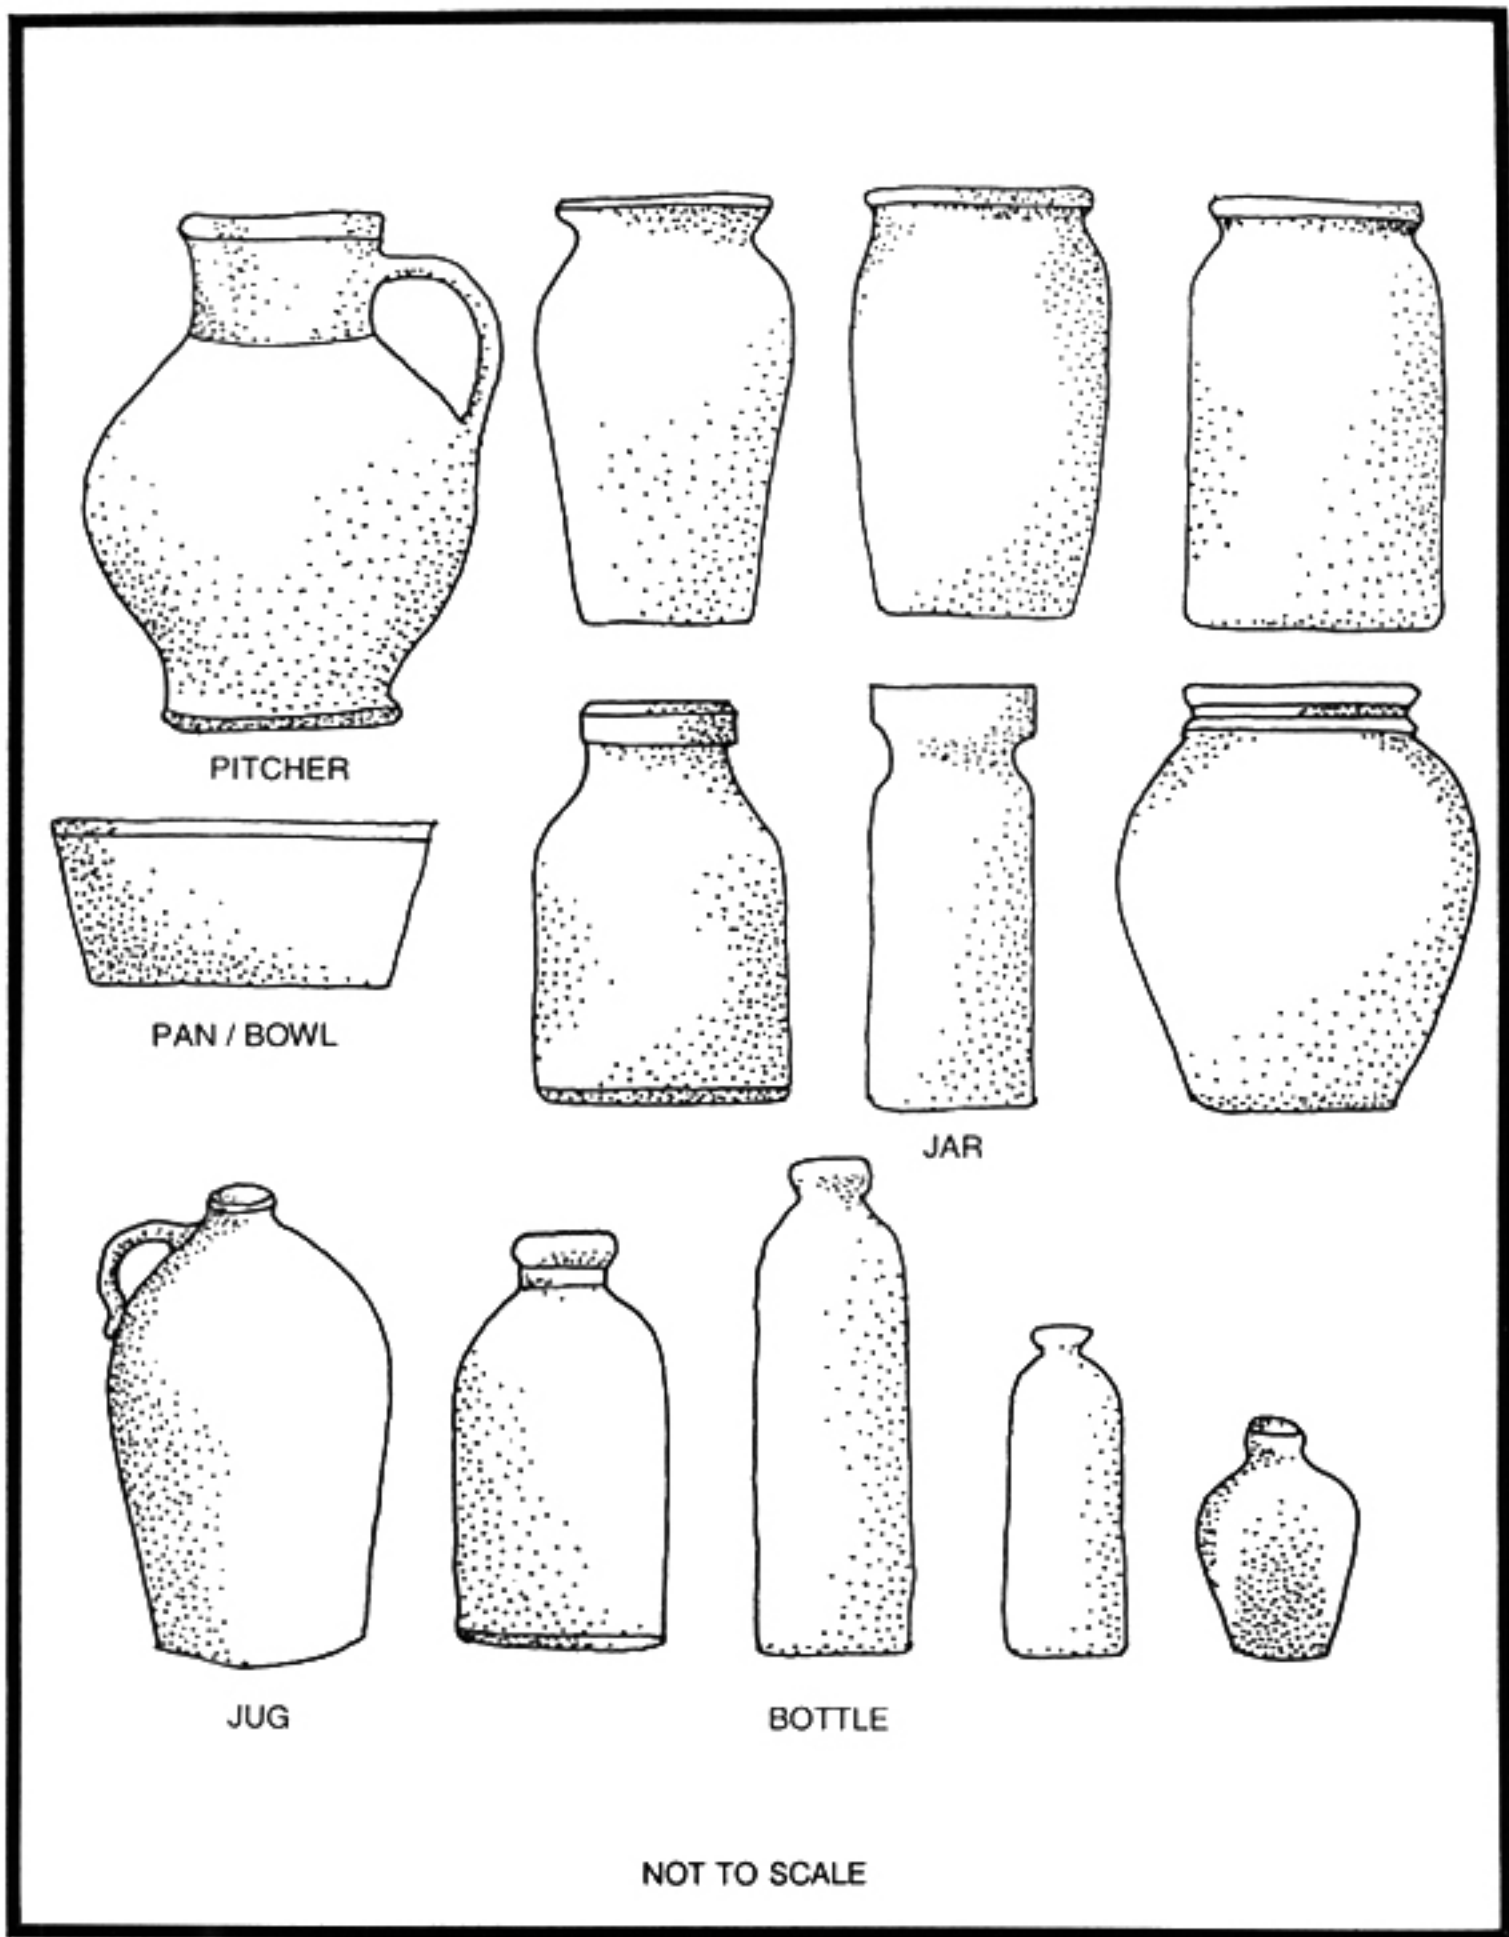

Figure 23. Drawing of Mr. Pawley's vessel shapes